

Micro Commercial Components Corp. (MCC) – Corporate & Trade Compliance Clarification

Micro Commercial Components Corp. (MCC) is a separately incorporated U.S. corporation, headquartered in Simi Valley, California, and operates as an independent business unit with full operational autonomy. MCC maintains its own executive leadership team, commercial operations, compliance programs, governance structure, and customer relationships.

While MCC has a historical corporate relationship with Yangzhou Yangjie Electronic Technology Co., Ltd., MCC operates independently of Yangzhou Yangjie’s business decision-making, supply-chain control, and day-to-day operations. Accordingly, Yangzhou Yangjie’s public listing does not impact MCC’s business operations, contractual commitments, product supply, or compliance framework.

Trade Compliance & Regulatory Oversight

MCC is committed to conducting business in full compliance with applicable international trade regulations, including U.S. regulations where applicable, as well as the local laws and export-control requirements governing manufacturing and shipment locations.

Although MCC does not manufacture products within the United States, MCC maintains centralized trade-compliance governance and transaction oversight as a U.S.-based corporation, including:

- Customer, end-use, and destination due-diligence reviews
- Contractual trade-compliance obligations applied to international shipments
- Screening and controls designed to prevent unauthorized diversion or misuse
- Alignment with applicable export-control and trade-compliance laws

MCC's commitment to trade compliance and lawful distribution is formally documented in its publicly available Terms and Conditions, which govern all customer transactions.

Summary

- MCC is a U.S.-incorporated, independently operated company
- MCC maintains full operational and governance autonomy
- MCC's business is not affected by Yangzhou Yangjie's public listing
- MCC applies robust trade-compliance controls and verification processes across its global operations

Customers may continue to rely on MCC for stable operations, transparent governance, and consistent compliance standards. For additional information or follow-up questions, please contact your MCC representative.